Repeated cleanings may eventually fix the printheads. However, if after repeated cleanings there are still white lines through the color blocks in Test Pattern 2 (but no lines in the gray blocks in Test Pattern 3), replace the printheads by the procedure elsewhere in this document.

NOTE: If there are white lines through ALL the color blocks, and also white lines through the gray blocks in Test Pattern 3, then do not clean the printheads - instead, calibrate linefeed by the procedure elsewhere in this document.

- White gaps in Test Pattern 3

Test Pattern 3

If you see dark lines or white gaps where the arrows are pointing, calibrate linefeed.

white gaps through the printed blocks in Test Pattern 3

If any of the gray blocks in Test Pattern 3 show dark lines or white gaps where the arrows are pointing, calibrate linefeed by the procedure elsewhere in this document.

If, after calibrating linefeed, there are still lines through the gray blocks in Test Pattern 3, service the printer.

- If all of the Test Patterns on the Print Quality Diagnostic look okay, you are done. Stop troubleshooting here.

Step four: Calibrate linefeed

If any of the gray blocks in Test Pattern 3 show dark lines or white gaps where the arrows are pointing, calibrate linefeed.

If you installed the HP software, use the instructions in Method one. If you installed a Plug and Play driver or other driver, use the instructions in Method two.

Method one: Calibrate linefeed in Solution Center

1. Make sure the printer is loaded with unused white paper.
2. Open HP Solution Center, then click Settings, then Printer Toolbox.
3. Select the Services tab.
4. Click Calibrate Linefeed.
